Institutes and Centers

The College of Health and Human Services is home to many of the nation's leading centers and institutes devoted to applied research and practical expertise in areas ranging from health policy and practice and cardiac rehabilitation, to experiential learning and child and adolescent development. They bring together student and faculty researchers from different academic fields to explore solutions to common problems. They produce new knowledge and policy recommendations that are made accessible to professionals and the general public. They provide a framework for collaborative partnerships among UNH, industry, and government agencies.
