 Interested in Studying Abroad?!

"The experience that stuck most from my studies in Ireland was not only the classes I took, but the people, culture and adventures that I immersed myself in- I would give anything to do it over and over again"
-Sarah F
Ireland Fall ‘13

Take the leap...

It’s easy to study abroad in the Physical Education major!

The University of New Hampshire supports a multitude of Study Abroad programs all around the world! You can choose to attend a school in which you can take Physical Education courses, or you can choose to fulfill your elective and discovery courses at any school while abroad. Keep reading to learn how!
You have the option to...

Take courses that count towards your Major:

There are a number of Colleges and Universities abroad that have courses in science, education, and even Physical Education. Here are a few of your options to check out:

- Multiple Universities in Australia/NZ
- University of Salzburg (Austria; Graduate level only)
- Växjö University (Sweden)
- University of Edinburgh (Scotland)
- Universität Heidelberg (Germany; courses in German)
- University of Limerick (Ireland)
- Hiroshima University (Japan)

Take Elective or Discovery Courses Abroad:

You can also take elective or discovery courses when you study abroad. You can do so through any of the UNH approved programs. In order to be able to take just these courses abroad, you may need to take extra classes within the PE department prior to going abroad so you do not fall behind. Speak with your advisor (Michelle or Steve) to create your best academic plan!

Some wonderful programs to check out:

For more information, please contact:

Sarah McVerry
PE Major/API Study Abroad Advocate
Smcverry73@gmail.com

UNH Center for International Education
http://www.unh.edu/global/education-abroad