Make more effective data-driven decisions
Students are immersed in courses that include instruction in statistical foundations, health data structures and modeling, as well as visualization and design techniques that best address evolving complexities in patient care and population health management

Taught by recognized leaders in their field
Program faculty are at the forefront of the rapidly changing field of health data science and analytics

Generous tuition discount
30% discount on in-state tuition costs

Flexible, online format
Online courses, can be done part-time, at your own pace, so it works within your employees' schedules

For more information, please contact:
Jania Marshall, Program Coordinator,
Health Data Science Graduate Programs
jania.marshall@unh.edu