This Series will examine aging as an innovative, diverse process. The COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted how racial, gender, sexual, socioeconomic, and educational disparities are woven into the fabric of communities and how we experience and engage with aging. The Series aims to spark discussions regarding new systems designed to care for all of us as we age.

The Saul O Sidore Memorial Lecture Series was established in 1965 in memory of Saul O Sidore of Manchester, New Hampshire. The purpose of the series is to offer the University community and the state of New Hampshire programs that raise critical and sometimes controversial issues facing our society. The University of New Hampshire Center for the Humanities sponsors the programs.
